GOLDFINE LAWYERS ARE FOILED IN ATTEMPT TO TAKE CASE INTO COURT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bernard Goldfine's lawyers asked a House subcommittee today to halt hearings, and take to a judge the fight over Goldfine's refusal to answer some questions. Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) tossed cold water on the idea.

The move marked the start of Goldfine's sixth day of testimony on charges that he got favored treatment from federal regulatory agencies through his friendship with presidential aide Sherman Adams. He and Adams deny this.

The subcommittee has threatened to cite Goldfine for contempt for not answering 23 questions about his financial affairs. Goldfine says the questions involve his private business and have nothing to do with the House inquiry into how regulatory agencies carry out the law.

Lawyer Samuel Sears restated Goldfine's refusal to answer once again today. Then Sears made the surprise move.

The Boston millionaire, returning Monday from a weekend at home, said he wasn't mad at anybody despite the subcommittee's threat to cite him for contempt for refusing to answer 23 specific questions last week. But he declined to say what reply he would give to new questions.

Rep. Peter F. Mack (D-Ill.), a member of the subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), said he now thinks the group will finish with Goldfine by Wednesday.

Goldfine, who on Saturday had accused the congressmen of "smear, pry and spy," said he was not disappointed at the progress of the hearings.

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.) took note of the hearings' main theme — that Goldfine got federal favors in return for expensive hospitality to presidential aide Sherman Adams. Both Goldfine and Adams hotly dispute this.

Williams said it is "very significant" that Goldfine so far has not shown that he paid any hotel bills for Adams before the former New Hampshire governor came to Washington with Eisenhower in 1953, whereas the investigators have found more than $3,000 worth of hotel bills Goldfine picked up for Adams since then.

The current committee battle with Goldfine swirls around $77,000 worth of long-unchecked checks which Goldfine insists have nothing to do with the avowed committee inquiry into how regulatory agencies carry out the law.

Franklin, Pa. (AP)—A 4-month old girl was swept to her death from her father's arms early today in a flash flood in Raymont, a small farming community 10 miles west of Franklin.

Torrential rains also triggered a flood in Greenville, 35 miles south of Franklin, flooding basements and streets in the community of 10,000. The Greenville water system was knocked out.

Kenneth A. Dille, 36, was awakened at 2:30 a. m. by the sound of rushing water from a nearby stream. He and his family sought safety through the darkness in waist deep water.

Dille was carrying Sandra. His wife, Violet, 61, had two-year-old Darlene in her arms. Kenneth, 10, and Ronnie, 8, scrambled along with their parents.

Mrs. Dille stumbled, dropping Darlene. Dille reached for the screaming girl and lost his grasp on the baby. She disappeared in the swirling waters emptying into Sandy Creek.

The frantic family fought its way back to the house and took refuge on the second floor until help arrived.

Only Surviving Quintuplets Having Rare Reunion Today

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The world's only surviving quintuplets turned 15 today and Papa Franco Diligenti is letting them have one of their rare reunions in honor of the occasion.

The three Diligenti girls and two boys were due home today from their separate English boarding schools. Their birthday party will be a huge fiesta Saturday at the family's suburban estate, with relatives flocking to Buenos Aires from as far away as Italy and Canada.

The wealthy, strong-willed father has firm ideas about rearing the quintuplets. Six years ago he sent them off to five different schools. Since then they have seen each other only during holidays.

By name they are Franco, Carlos Alberto, Maria Esther, Maria Cristina and Maria Fernanda.

Mighty Mouser Hauls Home Rattlesnake

JULIAETTA, Idaho (AP)—Gene Groseclose's cat, a mighty mouser, hauls mice and rats in, showing off her prize in return for an extra rub behind the ear.

The other night, Groseclose got up to let puss in, then went back to bed.

Up came puss on the bed. Out went Groseclose like a shot.

Wiggling in the jaws of the mighty mouser was a two-foot-long rattlesnake.

Belle Promises He'll Talk at The Proper Time

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Earl Belle, 26-year-old Pittsburgh financier whose dealings are under federal investigation, says that when the proper time comes he'll say everything necessary about his financial operations in the United States.

"Now my wife and I want privacy," Belle told newsmen Monday in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, where he and his wife are settled in an apartment after checking out of the Gloria Hotel Saturday.

Belle said he moved from the hotel because he didn't want to be phoned continually by reporters.

The Belles are sharing a Copacabana apartment with the Mitchell Ostwinds of Pittsburgh. Belle said the Ostwinds, who have a small child, will move into an apartment of their own in a few days. Ostwind had been an associate of Belle in the United States.

Belle was reported missing from his Pittsburgh offices nearly two weeks ago before several separate investigations were launched into his dealings. He headed Eastern Development Corp. and Cornucopia Gold Mines, Inc.

In Pittsburgh, the FBI said it had received a photostatic copy of a letter purportedly written by Belle, postmarked Rio de Janeiro and addressed "To Whom It May Concern." Copies also were received by the U. S. attorney's office, newspapers and several banks.

Township Officials Meeting in Bedford

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Association of Township Commissioners has been urged to establish planning and zoning commissions to formulate zoning ordinances, land use plans and other development ideas.

The plea was made Monday by Lewis Stevens, state secretary of highways, at the opening session of the three-day 33rd annual meeting of the commissioners.

Stevens declared that the expanding highways program has posed a crisis in many areas in utilizing land to the utmost social and economic benefit, adding:

"We are in the midst of the greatest road building period in the history of the Commonwealth. Room to expand is becoming increasingly scarce and the situation is crucial to our future."

Stevens said that in many first class townships there is almost no undeveloped land and to build a new road becomes more than merely what he termed an engineering proposition.

Boy Commits Crime To Get Back Into School

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—Police say a 15-year-old boy left his name and photo at the site of a break-in so he could get back into reform school and finish his education.

He told officers his parents were separated and his mother had to work nights as a textile worker.

Dep. Sheriff L. L. Hamrick declined to identify the boy, held for juvenile authorities.

McGonigle Addresses Rally at Meadville

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate Arthur T. McGonigle told a rally here Monday night the GOP Sept. 9 would "present a program of which you will be proud, one you can depend on, one for which you can go out and fight."

Capping a good-will tour of Crawford County which he lost in the primary election to Harold Stassen, the Reading industrialist said it was too early in the campaign to discuss basic issues.

"I'm coming back in September. Then we'll hit them, and hit them hard," he said.

Cuban Rebels Still Holding 29 Americans

By LARRY ALLEN

QUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—Cuban rebels still held 29 U.S. sailors and Marines today but there was some hope the scheduled start of their release Monday had only been delayed by rain.

Helicopters were scheduled to take off from the U.S. Navy base on Guantanamo Bay today for the assembly point in the east Cuban mountains to which the rebels were supposed to bring the servicemen they kidnapped nearly three weeks ago.

U.S. Consul Park Wollam, who has been negotiating with the rebels for release of the men, sent word he was confident some would be freed today and possibly all would be back at their base by Wednesday.

Fidel Castro's men had promised Wollam the men would start coming out Monday afternoon. A Navy helicopter waited several hours at the delivery area but none of the prisoners showed up.

A Navy spokesman said bad weather apparently prevented the rebels from assembling the captives from the mountain camps in which they are scattered.

Other Navy sources were less optimistic. Pilots of the helicopter and Navy search planes which escorted it said while there was heavy rain and mist in the mountains, there was no evidence that the Castro forces had made any effort to ready the captives for evacuation.

The servicemen are the last held by the rebels. Previously 20 U.S. and Canadian civilians and one Navy airman abducted by the rebels were released. All were seized in a Castro bid to win recognition from the U.S. government as genuine belligerents instead of unorganized revolutionaries. The bid has failed.

Discoverer of Streptomycin Is Going to Retire

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Dr. Selman A. Waksman, co-discoverer of the wonder drug streptomycin, is retiring as director of the Rutgers University Institute of Microbiology.

The Russian-born Nobel Prize winner reaches the mandatory retirement age of 70 July 22.

In announcing Waksman's retirement Monday, the Rutgers Board of Governors said he will be succeeded Sept. 1 by Dr. J. Oliver Lampen. Lampen is currently director of the Division of Biochemical Research at the Squibb Institute for Medical Research here.

Streptomycin was discovered in Waksman's laboratories at the university in 1942 after some 20 years of research. The Rutgers Institute of Microbiology was built largely with royalties from the drug, and Waksman has been director since it was established in May 1949.

The drug is one of the most effective known in fighting tuberculosis. In 1952, Waksman received the Nobel Prize in physiology and medicine for his part in its discovery.

The university said Waksman will remain active, traveling to scientific meetings throughout the world.

Connellsville Rec. Board in Trouble With Democrats

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Three members of the Connellsville Recreation Board, which granted permission to the Fayette County Republican Committee to hold a family picnic in East Park Aug. 2, were fired Monday night.

An all-Democratic council voted 4-1 to dismiss Dr. J. Harold Dull and Dr. Clyde S. Campbell, both Republicans, and Robert M. Leiberger, a Democrat. The only dissenting vote was cast by councilman James R. McNulty.

Democratic Mayor Robert P. McLuckey, who voted for the dismissals, said the council disapproved of the actions of certain board members who granted use of the park for political purposes.

ACTION COMES AS U. N. COUNCIL IS ASSEMBLED TO DEAL WITH SITUATION

UNDATED MIDEAST AT A GLANCE

By The Associated Press

BEIRUT—First of 5,000 U. S. Marines ordered to Lebanon by President Eisenhower land on Beirut beach and control Beirut Airport.

WASHINGTON—President says troops, requested by President Chamoun of Lebanon, will safeguard Americans and protect Lebanon pending U. N. action.

UNITED NATIONS—Security Council, in emergency session, fights off Soviet demand to unseat delegate of overthrown Iraqi government.

LONDON—Britain announces support of U. S. Marine landings, withholds its own troops, alerts bases and fleet.

BAGHDAD—Rebels say ousted Premier Nuri Said, variously reported dead and safe, was beaten to death by a mob; Iraqis held under tight curfew by new military regime.

By EDWIN A. SHANKE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Marines have landed in Lebanon. The vanguard of 5,000 U. S. Leathernecks ordered here by President Eisenhower waded ashore today from landing craft of the 6th Fleet, little more than 24 hours after a revolt had overthrown the pro-Western government of Iraq.

The action came as the United Nations security Council gathered in New York to deal with threats to peace in this area. President Eisenhower said U. S. use of the troops will end when the Security Council "has itself taken the measures necessary to maintain international peace and security."

Eisenhower said Marines were sent at the request of Lebanese President Camille Chamoun to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

The first Marines landed from 12 landing craft at Khaldé Beach just south of this revolt-torn capital. The landing craft came up to the beach from seven small warships which appeared offshore.

The Marines marched off to Beirut's airport, which had been closed a few hours earlier, perhaps for the landing of troop carriers.

U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock urged the 2,500 Americans in Lebanon to leave the country. Ten U. S. Embassy families left today, including the wife and son of the ambassador.

Pan American World Airways in London had a report that the U. S. Embassy in Baghdad was surrounded by rebels. The British Embassy there was sacked and burned by the rebels Monday.

The Baghdad radio reported again today that 70-year-old Premier Nuri Said had been beaten to death by a mob. Earlier the radio had admitted its claims of his death Monday were not true and that he had escaped. These broadcasts had offered a price for his capture. He has been one of the West's best friends in the Middle East.

Baghdad said Monday that Crown Prince Abdul Ilah had been hanged on display in front of the Palace of Justice in Baghdad, as was Nuri Said's body.

The offer of a reward for Nuri Said had raised speculation that he was among friendly tribesmen and was stirring up resistance. His friends in Beirut claimed fighting was still going on in Baghdad.

Strong British and American naval forces were moving into the eastern Mediterranean.

Fifteen ships of the U. S. 6th Fleet, including the 33,100-ton carrier Wasp, had left Naples on sudden orders, and 11 others hauled in their sailors from shore leaves on the French Riviera.

Health Officials Optimistic Over the Peak Polio Months

HARRISBURG (AP)—State health officials were cautiously optimistic today that Pennsylvania will get through the peak polio months with the lowest number of reported cases in its history.

The optimism was bolstered by the fact that only one case was reported through the first six months of the year. Dr. Charles L. Wilbur, state health secretary, said this was the best record yet, surpassing the previous six-months low of 12 cases during the first half of 1957.

However, the health secretary cautioned it was "far too early" to predict whether the 1958 total would be below the total of 41 set last year. There were three deaths from the crippling virus last year.

Dr. Wilbur pointed out that about 80 per cent of the total cases in any one year come during August, September and October.

Dr. W. D. Schrack Jr., director of the Division of Communicable

Disease Control, said, "We'll just have to wait and see what develops."

Nearly 13 million doses of the Salk antipolio vaccine have been made available in Pennsylvania since 1955 when the vaccine was developed.

This is enough to carry over four million people through the complete immunization program of three shots. Dr. Schrack said, but pointed out it would still leave some seven million Pennsylvanians unprotected.

He estimated that about 40 per cent of the people over 20 have not completed the immunization and about 10 per cent or more under 20, particularly in the 15-19 age group.

Dr. Schrack said the state will continue to receive 9,000 doses of the vaccine a month until next July when its share of federal aid will become exhausted. The state has appropriated no money itself for the purchase of vaccine.

Council Discusses Progress Of '58 Street Improvement Program, Other Problems

Progress on the 1958 Street improvement program, pending letouts, too many stallings and one hanging horse all briefly came before Warren Borough Council at its regular July meeting in Council Chambers at Municipal Building Monday evening.

Council members also shelved "indefinitely" any hope for widening Second Avenue in the immediate future.

A nine-member delegation from Jackson Avenue residing above Prospect Street was on hand to applaud Council as it approved unanimously plans and grades for the proposed widening project as submitted by Pennsylvania Highway Department.

Clarence Hepfinger, Clarence Zerbe and Hugo Carlson all spoke in favor of the widening (to 26 feet) project which would add ditches to end an overflow problem and also provide decent access to driveways. At the previous meeting, a delegation of determined residents of lower Jackson Avenue had been unsuccessful in having the so-called stall the project for further study.

In response to a query from Kail Peterson Borough Engineer Robert DeBell estimated assessment costs for residents above Prospect Street on Jackson between $280 and $300 per frontage foot compared to costs of $120 to $135 per foot frontage for residents residing below Prospect Borough will pay $5,500 for the project south from Prospect $11,000 for the widening and ditches necessary above.

The widening of Jackson Avenue will continue 2,968 feet above Conewago Avenue, with the state to undertake most of the costs. Borough line is about 2,800 feet out. State has taken over the road. Property owners on each side will be assessed a third of the total costs, Borough will pay the final third.

Second Dropped
The Second Avenue paving project was dropped indefinitely in the words of Public Works Committee Chairman Nick Merenick in view of too-high costs. When the YWCA said it could not willingly accept its share of assessments for the proposed 4-foot widening because of no budgeted funds, the flagging project was dropped completely. It had been planned to widen Second Avenue eight feet to permit parking on both sides once again.

Detours Starting
Borough Engineer DeBell announced that work on the Pennsylvania Avenue diversion sewer manholes was scheduled to begin this week at the Stuthers Street intersection on the West Side. As the project will take up most of the roadway, said DeBell, a three-block detour will be necessary. He said he hoped the project would not too severely inconvenience traffic as work on diversion manholes moved east along Pennsylvania Avenue during the summer.

Bitumastic Bids
Council accepted a bid of $4,442.70 from Allied Bitumastics Co. of Buffalo for bitumastic material for resurfacing of streets such as Crescent, Laurel, Jefferson, Madison and Franklin which come under this year's resurfacing program. Other higher bid ($4,469.25) was submitted by Koppers Tar Co. of Pittsburgh.

General Concrete Products submitted the only bid ($2,343) for washed and crushed gravel for the blacktop resurfacing. Borough Engineer DeBell reported that the street paving program had now begun, and that the storm sewers in the project would be completed first. Work has already begun on Madison Street sewer, with Buchanan and Alexander Streets next in that order. Madison is also to be the first to be paved of those in the 1958 improvement program, DeBell added.

DeBell noted that the sewage plant was now 45 per cent completed with that much material on hand, including all pipe for the river crossings. He said Milano Co. had planned to start the river crossings this week but there had been too much more rain.

One-Way Fifth
A petition requesting one-way traffic eastbound on lower Fifth Avenue from Poplar street to Hickory was offered to Burgess William E. Rice, Police Chief Mike Evan and Public Safety Committee by its chairman, Glen Patchen. Burgess Rice observed that all traffic tended to flow east and that one-wayed easterly would probably greatly increase the flow. A reverse direction was suggested. The petition stated it represented 100 per cent of the lower Fifth Avenue residents.

Councilman Kail Timm presented to committee a request that four to six-inch deep ditches on East Fifth Avenue be remedied so that motorists would not have to park so far out in the street. It was suggested the highway department be requested to take the matter under study.

Hanging Hose
Councilman Timm also observed that, though the state was still holding up on Indian Run flood protective measures, one home owner still had a house which overhung the run at it had since the last flood.

He suggested that matter be looked into shortly.

Starling Nuisance
Councilman Paul Yagge asked what measures could be taken to get the starlings out of his (i.e. the Sixth) ward. He said perhaps dense tree foliage could be clipped, or perhaps, a few shotguns be blasted. The councilman admitted these methods might just drive the birds to a different ward but he said his allegiance was with Sixth Warders. When asked his advice, Burgess Rice observed that he had nine wards to look after and besides he was not running for reelection. Councilman Timm pointed out that starlings already abounded on Orchard street and a pigeon infestation in Ward 7 was also brought to the attention of other bird watchers among City Fathers.

Councilman Yagge, head of Buildings and Lands Committee, asked for, and received permission for Kiwanis Club use of Memorial Field for Annual Hot Stove League Day Aug 9 (ann date Aug 25) and American Legion use of the Field Aug. 16 for a drum corps competition.

Finance Committee member James Frantz, in a usual early fiscal year measure, asked for and received permission to borrow up to $80,000 until Oct 1 when tax money would begin to roll in.

Finance Committee Chairman Maurice Emery said County Commissioners had informed him that the county reappraisal project was being completed faster than anticipated, and that the new assessment rates might well be available for 1959 and suggested Council members keep that in mind.

Borough Solicitor S. Knox Harper stated that Borough Manager George Geracimos had received a 4-inch stack of material from municipality advisor William Willis on smoke control. Mr. Willis advised regional planning on the matter, according to Mr. Harper.

The Rev. Ernest Kaebnick, representing American Sunday School Union, gave the invocation.

Other Jackson Avenue residents who were present to witness disposition of the matter concerning the widening project besides those mentioned above were Fran Morris, Bernard Bloom, Louis Biacci, Fred Swanson, Robert Smith.

NEW YORK (AP) — A happy oenologist sees a return to sanity in at least one pattern of American life.

"I believe there will be a swing away from the present 9-to-1 martini and back toward the normal 3-to-1 ratio," said Dr. Frank Gallizio.

Dr. Gallizio, 55, Turin-born, and as volatile as the products he studies, has been an oenologist, or professional student of wines and liquors, for 35 years. He says it is a very rewarding profession, and each year has been more golden than the one before.

For more than two decades he has been an authority on the martini, a drink which he regards as one of the finest.

"Martini drinking is a wild forest, full of different individualists," he observed.

"The reason I believe there will be a return to the normal 3-to-1 martini is that they are being drunk in the home now as much as in bars."

"Certainly a man in his own home would hardly make his wife a 9-to-1 drink. It is far too strong."

It could be, of course, that Dr. Gallizio overrates the chivalry of the American husband, or underates the capacity of the average wife—or both.

"Most people think they get a drier martini by increasing the quantity of gin or vodka," he said. "But this isn't necessarily so. Sometimes they stir the ice so long it becomes too watered."

Here is his recipe for the perfect 3-to-1 martini.

"Put many ice cubes in the mixer. Pour in the vermouth and gin or vodka, and let it filter down slowly through the ice. Then stir once or twice quickly, and pour."

"The martini will be dry—and have a minimum of water."

Dr. Gallizio is firmly set personally against the addition of olive (it gives an oily flavor) or lemon peel (it changes the entire character of the drink).

"I prefer a small pearl onion—but only one—in the martini," he said, judiciously. "But even better is a tiny green pepper preserved in wine vinegar. In my opinion that is best of all."

"I am not against the olive for everyone, mind you—only in my own martini. Heaven forbid, you might get an olive in which the oil had become a bit rancid."

One would think that after 35 years of thoughtful sipping, an oenologist might have a few enlightening secrets about the common hangover. But no.

"I bet in all my life I did not have more than three or four times a hangover—a severe one," said Dr. Gallizio. "I have never made a profound study of it."

"I think there is practically nothing to do for the hangover—except maybe take a cold shower, black coffee and a massage."

Radio and TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—"Television isn't show business," said Robert Paul Smith thoughtfully. "It's a freebie."

Smith, who writes best-selling books, hit Broadway shows, big box office movies and TV variety shows, put his feet up on the typewriter and continued:

"Show business is the legitimate theater, the movies and in an odd way, book publishing. In show business, the audience walks up to a counter, puts down its money and buys a ticket."

"A freebie is something you get for nothing. In television, you are given entertainment for nothing. Oh, sure, you're supposed to keep watching while somebody tries to sell you cigarettes or shaving cream, but it's still for nothing. Well, what you get for nothing usually is nothing. The trouble with a freebie like television is that nobody knows if people are buying tickets. So they have to find people to tell them whether or not people are watching and if they like what they see. I don't think the people who tell them are competent to judge."

It's this business of just not knowing, Smith says, that makes television people so jumpy.

Smith himself isn't jumpy. At the moment he is writing the Andy Williams show which is the summer replacement for Pat Boone. He accepted the chore because it enables him to earn a chunk of money so that later he can stop earning money for a while and write another book, which is what he considers his serious business. ("Where did you go? Out. What did you do? Nothing") was one recent piece of serious Smith business.

Smith has been television shy for a long time. A native New Yorker, he was a radio writer who went to the West Coast in the '40s.

"When I got back," he says, "they had discovered television in New York. At first I thought it would be the same as radio and then I discovered everybody was upset about how they'd get on hand off stage. . . I didn't like it, so I wrote 'The Tender Trap'—a play—so I wouldn't have to write for television. Writing plays is another way to make money so you can afford to write books."

VISITOR'S BIG CATCH—Mack McKinley, left, of Mansfield, Ohio, caught this beauty of a muskie at Sherman Bay, Lake Chautauque Tuesday evening with a deep dive plug. Mack is visiting his brother, Guy McKinley, right. Big catch was 52 inches long and weighed 30 pounds. The plug used for the catch was given Mack by a friend who didn't like the way it worked! Past President Of Lions Is Back From Convention

Past President of Warren Lions Club, Elbert W. Nine, and wife, of 419 Conevango avenue, returned home after attending 1958 Lions International Convention in Chicago July 9 through 12.

Mr. Nine served as District Governor for District 14-J for the past year and as a delegate from Warren and District Governor, he relinquished his position to his successor, James Wales of Templeton, Pa. Mr. Wales is a member of the Kittinging club.

Other officers elected were: Dudley L. Summs, Charleston, W. Va., President; Clarence L. Stumm, Manawa, Wis., 1st Vice-president; Finis E. Davis, Lexington, Kentucky, 2nd Vice-president; Per Stahl, Eskilstuna, Sweden, 3rd Vice-president; Paul W. Mahady, Latrobe, Board of Directors for two years.

Approximately 40,000 persons attended the convention, Wednesday morning a gala parade lasting nearly 4½ hours was presented. Pennsylvania delegation won first prize for the best float. It depicted aid to the blind and showed blind golfers in action.

Two Warren Boys Fare-way Well at JC Golf Tourney

Two Warren golfers participated in the state Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament in Carlisle Sunday, placing high among the 75 contestants. Ross Kemei, 471 Prospect street, and Vince Toscano, 22 South Morrison were accompanied by Dick Cook Warren Jaycee representative.

Toscano captured second place laurels in the driving contest. Vince had a long drive of 252 yards that was the winning drive until the very last golfer, with an opportunity to beat Vince, blasted a drive of 253 yards, just 36 inches further.

Held at beautiful Carlisle Country Club course, golfers had to shoot an 82 or under on the first 18 holes over the par 71 course to qualify for final nine holes. Vince had two bad holes and was eliminated with an 89, but Ross played superb golf and qualified for the final with an 81. Playing nine holes against other qualifiers, Ross shot a 43 to finish 13th in the tournament.

The Warren boys' desire to win the tournament was so strong they skipped the banquet Saturday evening to get in more practice. Both young golfers played excellent golf on a strange course and Warren area may be proud of the fine showing. Warren Jaycees congratulate Vince and Ross and hope that more junior golfers will enter next year's tournament. Toscano won the local tournament last month.

John Koneczny of Connellsville was tournament winner and will head a four-man Pennsylvania delegation of golfers to national J.C. tournament at Tucson, Arizona in August.

According to Associated Press Koneczny won with a 27-hole three over par 110. He shot a three over par 74 in the first 18 holes of qualifying play, then fired a par 36 for the first nine holes of the course to win. Runners-up were George Macanos, Pittsburgh; Pierce Hanger, Erie, and Ralph Detrich, Reading.

Adams Expulsion Proposal Rejected By Young G.O.P.

ERIE Pa. (AP)—A resolution calling for the resignation of presidential assistant Sherman Adams has been rejected by the Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republicans.

Instead, delegates at the closing session of the two-day meeting Saturday night passed a resolution "expressing full satisfaction and confidence" in President Eisenhower.

The delegates also heard Arthur T. McGonigle, Republican candidate for governor, charge that Democratic Gov. George M. Leader's political philosophy "dedicates all government to the perpetuation in power of a political party."

"It feeds on high taxes necessary to maintain bloated political payrolls. It rules out collective service to all citizens in favor of special treatment for men who can deliver blocks of votes. The Leader Administration is the biggest flop in modern Pennsylvania history."

FARM NEWS

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania will make its bid to become the site of a proposed National Hall of Fame for Agriculture at a meeting of farm leaders Nov. 24 in Kansas City.

The meeting will be the first annual one of the Board of Governors of the proposed memorial to outstanding contributors to American agricultural development.

The board of governors is headed by Pennsylvania's Dr. Lyman E. Jackson, dean of agriculture at Pennsylvania State University. Dr. William L. Henning, state secretary of agriculture, is the other Pennsylvania member of the group.

Thomas H. McIntosh of the Pittsburgh suburb of Brentwood was elected chairman of the federation. Other officers elected were:

Gloria Sabatini, Montgomery County, vice-chairman; Kathryn Dicky Jeffier, county secretary; James Loftus, Lackawanna County, treasurer; George Merrill, Lycoming County, national committeeman, and Leroy Zimmerman, Montgomery County program director.

Though the commonwealth historically was the backbone of early American agriculture and is still a high-ranking farm state, many observers agree that it will not get the nod as the site for the proposed hall of fame.

The probable site for the memorial will be somewhere in the Midwest, which is the center of American agriculture.

However there is no question Pennsylvania will have a host of nominees for the hall—all of them top contributors to farm progress. Heading the list of outstanding persons from the state who had a hand in boosting the nation's agriculture was Benjamin Franklin who included farming among his many interests.

Though the state will probably bow to the midwest as a site for the institution, it can make a strong case for being the location.

The Philadelphia Society for the Promotion of Agriculture, organized in 1785, was the nation's first such organization still in existence. Franklin was an active member along with Dr. Benjamin Rush, a pioneer in early scientific and medical research.

The state also fostered the inventor of the moldboard plow, as well as the inventors or developers of scores of other farm machines or plants.

In addition the state already has a fine potential site for such a memorial at its agricultural museum in Landisville, Lancaster County. One of the nation's finest collections of early farm equipment is located at the Bucks County Historical Society Museum in Doylestown.

Doctors Investigating Hoxsey Clinic Report

HARRISBURG (AP)—Eight doctors who were named to investigate operations of the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage are mailing their ideas for the proposed probe. Jerome Geiber, deputy attorney general, said the doctors agreed Monday to mail in their ideas. He said the mail plan was proposed due to a lack of full attendance at an organization meeting of the committee.

The committee was set up by Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride and Dr. Charles L. Wilbur, state health secretary, in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Medical Society and the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Assn.

Former Sen. John J. Halushka, clinic president, has said that he would welcome the probe into cancer treatment claims by the clinic.

I. J. HOFF

Friends and associates of many years' standing note with sadness the passing of I. J. Hoff, one of the oldest and best known residents of the Warren area whose funeral is being held this afternoon.

A kindly man and a scholar of outstanding distinction, Mr. Hoff was known far and wide for the success of the Business College he headed in Warren over a long period of years.

Mr. Hoff took pride in his town, his church and everything that he held dear. By all who knew him and by those with whom he associated in business and pleasure his memory will be held in the highest regard.

PRAISE FOR GAVIN

St. Mary's Daily Press

Congressman Leon H. Gavin of Oil City who represents this district in Congress and a member of the House Armed Services Committee, plugged hard for the military pay raise bill, recently passed by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower.

As a sergeant in World War I, Congressman Gavin has been in close touch with veterans affairs ever since going to Congress and has long fought for more pay for men and women in military service as he has often referred to the millions sent overseas in the form of foreign aid while extra pay for military personnel was shunted aside year after year until this congressional session.

His work has won the editorial approval of the Army, Navy, Air Force Journal as noted in a recent issue.

Reminders of two important dates of interest to area residents were heard at the July meeting of Borough Council last evening when permission was granted the Kiwanis Club for use of War Memorial Field for the annual Hot Sove League Day program August 9th, and to the American Legion for use of the field for the annual Drum Corps Competition August 16th—one week later!

Marlow Looks At TODAY'S NEWS

Editor's Note—James B. Sibbison is substituting for James Marlow.

By JAMES B. SIBBISON
WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders are alarmed over the rash of "right-to-work" movements that have broken out in a number of states. They profess to fear these more than any pending labor legislation in Congress.

Sponsors of these movements have been gathering signatures on petitions in six states in the hope of putting their proposal on the November ballots. A seventh, Kansas, acted through its Legislature. What they want is to outlaw the union shop.

Wherever such a proposal is approved, a new employee would no longer be obliged to join a union—as he is now in a union shop plant. Eighteen states, mostly Southern, already have such laws. Right-to-work proponents, usually Chambers of Commerce and conservative farm groups, say all they ask is that every worker have the freedom to say whether he wants to belong to a union.

Top union leaders see it otherwise. Given this choice, they say many employees would refuse to join in order to avoid paying dues while still enjoying the pay raises and work conditions negotiated by the union.

A petition campaign to put a right-to-work referendum up to the voters in the fall failed in Montana. Results in Colorado and Idaho await a check of the ballots and numbers of signatures obtained.

But union leaders are fairly certain the proposal will be offered voters in Ohio, Washington, Kansas and California.

Of these four, easily the most important politically are California and Ohio. Both have big industry and heavy union representation.

Here and There

Printed in Warren Ledger eighty years ago this week, is the following letter from "Aunt Pheba" in Youngsville about a July 4 incident in that town: "Editor Ledger—I never attempted to write for the press, nor would I at this time but for the fact that a very unusual occurrence in our place calls for a public notice. I will give the facts, as near as I can. In the first place, flaring handbills were got out in some way, no one seems to know how; that there would be a grand celebration of the 4th of July. The day came, and was ushered in by the firing of cannon and all the other noises incident to such an occasion; and about 10 o'clock the people began to arrive and enquire for the fourth, but no one could tell—no one knew. Then it rained. Then it was said it would be at 2 o'clock, so everybody waited till past 3, when two ragamuffins were to be seen going through the streets crying at the top of their voices, 'Fourth of July on Siggins Island!' So, about 4 o'clock, quite a crowd had assembled on and about the platform of the Youngsville Silver Coronet Band, but no band there. Finally, when the patience of the people had become exhausted, N. P. Belknap stepped to the front and called the meeting to order, whereupon W. H. Short was made President and E. H. Day Secretary. Then W. F. Siggins, reader of the Declaration, was called to the stand; then Bro. Hull, to make the opening prayer; then J. B. White, the orator of the day, who said he thought the whole thing had been postponed; and last, but not least, Dr. Riley was called; then a choir of young ladies to sing the 'Star Spangled Banner.' Bro. Short said he wanted all to join in the chorus, but for some cause, best known to themselves, but few sang it. Then Bro. Short went for them, and told them that anyone who would not sing the chorus ought to be made to do so, and said that in England everybody was compelled to sing 'God Save the Queen.' I suppose that is the way he would like to have it here. Then commenced the speeches, and such an array I never saw. Why, it reminded me of Barnum's 'happy family,' all manner of politics, and I might say religion, represented, there was the Greenbacker, White; the Radical, Short; the Democrat, Siggins, and the Commoner, Babcock—each and all foreshadowing his peculiar political opinion without giving the detail; and, strange to say, no particular exceptions were taken to any of the remarks except Bro. Short's. Mr. White said the cause of all our trouble and hard times was misrule at Washington. Bro. Riley said it was not the officers at Washington, but the people at home; he saw it commenced at Leon, N. Y., four years ago. Men would not vote until the man came who paid the most money. Now who will say Youngsville is not a band of brothers? The meeting adjourned in good order. Next came the fantasies, which afforded great fun for the little folks; then all the races, and everything, I believe, finally, as advertised on the large handbills, was all carried out, and the speakers nearly all said they felt that it was good to be there. The fantasies escorted the band from the depot, on their arrival from Warren, to the stand, when they danced to their heart's content. "Aunt Pheba."

See Hoffa's Transport Union As Bid for Respectability

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Notorious James Riddle ("Jimmy") Hoffa of the Teamsters Union has formally opened a campaign here to gain acceptance as a respectable and responsible labor union "statesman."

This came out of his announcement here on July 3 of a new "Conference on Transportation Unity." Joining him in the statement were Joseph Curran of the National Maritime Union, AFL-CIO, and Capt. William V. Bradley of the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn., expelled from the AFL for racketeer domination in 1953.

Hoffa's assistants were quick to call this "the biggest thing that has happened in the American Labor movement since John L. Lewis walked out of the AFL to form CIO."

Skeptics were equally quick to minimize the sweeping nature of this statement. They also take with large doses of salt any assertions that Jimmy Hoffa is anything more or different from what the Senate's McClellan committee labor racketeering investigation made him out.

THEY EXPRESS DOUBT, and will have to be shown, before they will believe that Hoffa has turned over any new leaves. But the stable of Hoffa press agents is now playing the harp that, "Jimmy Hoffa is going to become the biggest labor leader in the country." And that will be something to watch.

"The International Teamster," monthly house organ of the big union which was expelled from the AFL-CIO last year on charges of corruption, devotes its current issue to refuting all the critical pieces that national magazines have been printing about Hoffa.

The wash job consists of showing that Hoffa has not been convicted in any of the court tests filed against him by the U.S. government.

According to "The Teamster," the latest acquittal "cleans the slate."

REGARDLESS OF ALL this window-dressing, the new "Conference on Transportation Unity" which Hoffa has now unveiled is considered important in labor union politics.

The plan in brief is to invite three representatives from each of some 50 international unions in the transportation industry to a larger conference at the end of August. A formal organization will be perfected then.

Hoffa, Curran and Bradley insist they have no intention of forming a new labor federation to compete with AFL-CIO. Curran is now a vice president of that organization and a member of its ethical practices committee.

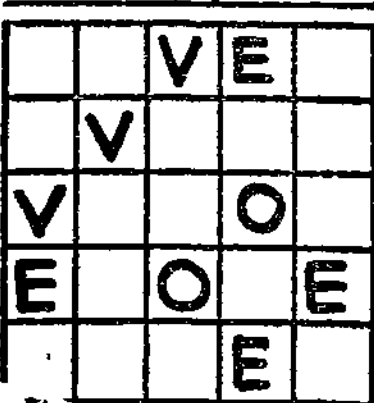

"If there was any idea of forming another federation," says Curran, "I wouldn't be in this conference."

THE 100-WORD announcement of the conference signed by Hoffa, Curran and Bradley said its purpose would be "to resolve . . . jurisdictional differences, provide mutual assistance and . . . promote progress and stability in the transportation industry."

NEW YORK (AP) — Watchers

for the turn in the recession tide sometimes look for signs on far-off beaches. And today they are trying to evaluate one such ripple—the chance that American manufacturers may be changing their minds about new plant and equipment spending. The wavelet, for what it's worth, is reported from Puerto Rico.

The reported about-face in recent weeks is restoring optimism to the island's Economic Development Administration which had reason to be pretty blue in the first three months of this year.

During January, February and March only three U.S. manufacturers decided to start operations in Puerto Rico. Operation Bootstrap—encouraging American companies to set up branch plants and thus help pull the Caribbean land out of its economic slough—seemed to have sunk on the shoals of the mainland's recession.

Company after company told Puerto Rican representatives that they weren't interested in expanding at this time.

But in April, May and June 54 companies signed up. This lifted the total for the fiscal year to 91. The agency says the contracts involve jobs for 4,715 persons, a yearly payroll of $7,403,100 and capital investment of $9,103,926.

All this is too small in comparison with total U.S. plant expansion spending to be a determining factor in the length of the recession.

And it runs counter to all the statistics on industrial construction here, which in the first six months of 1958 ran 24 per cent behind a year ago. Also each poll of future intentions on expansion spending has been increasingly on the pessimistic or cautious side, so that little real help to the economy from that quarter has been expected until some months from now.

But one of the things economists have been looking for is any evidence of a change in business thinking—away from retrenchment and coasting and towards resumption of expansion and modernization of plants.

Whether Puerto Rico's experience of the last few weeks signifies this, it's too early to say.

The Rev. George F. O'Pray officiated at 10:00 a. m. in the presence of 125 guests. Dean Redick, organist, provided the wedding music.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar. Mrs. David Nelson was matron of honor; bridesmaids were Dorothy Crick and Nancy Sandquist; flower girl was Pamela Holmberg. Others in the bridal party were Carl E. Martin, best man for his brother; ushers, Keith Stam and David R. Nelson, ring bearer, William Gross.

A pearl and sequin crown held her veil of white illusion and her pearl necklace and ear-rings were the bridegroom's gift.

THRILL FOR YOUNGSTERS—While Mr. and Mrs. Carl Durbin and children, of Pittsfield, were spending two very pleasant days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis, 228 Churchill avenue, Ottawa, they were privileged to tour the capital city and young Darcy, Darcy and Darwin posed with a Royal Mounted Police officer on the steps of the Parliament building. Other points of interest in the city included the museum, airport and experimental farms. Their two-week vacation also included stops at Crystal Beach, Santa's Village and Algonquin Provincial Park, where they enjoyed a week of boating and swimming.

"Serving Warren Families Since 1891"

Will Count 91 Candles

J. K. Crooks, who enjoys the distinction of being the oldest resident of the community of Corydon, will have the best wishes of many local and county friends for many happy "returns of the day". Mr. Crooks, seen in the accompanying snapshot at the home of his grandchildren, Gertrude and Frank DiPasquille, in Lake Worth, Fla., will celebrate the milestone at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crooks in Buffalo, with all his family on hand.

Born and reared in Corydon, Mr. Crooks has served his community faithfully and well, having to his credit 50 years of continuous membership on the board of education. A devout member of the Methodist church, he has served it as a trustee over a period of years and is still active in church and civic affairs. A staunch Republican, he has never failed to cast his vote for whomever he considers the best candidate. Although he has spent several winters, with Mrs. Crooks, in Florida, one of his most enjoyed hobbies is gardening at his summer residence here.

He has two sons, Raymond in Buffalo and Nelson, of Corydon; two daughters, Mrs. Jefferson Sears, Akely, and Mrs. Bernard Joy, Warren.

Mary Madeline Slater Is Bride Of Edward Joseph Straneva June 28th

The marriage of Mary Madeline Slater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Slater of Roystone, to Edward Joseph Straneva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Straneva of Ludlow, was solemnized June 28.

The nuptial mass and double ring ceremony took place at 11:00 a. m. in St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church in Sheffield, the Rev. Francis Tushum officiating. Baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, stock and larkspur decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in floor length organza and alencon lace, and carried a white prayer book on which rested a cascade of white roses, an orchid, and white streamers with ivy and baby pansies.

The portrait neckline of her empress gown was edged with undescents and seed pearls, the lace bodice had matching sleeves ending in points at the wrists, the tight-fitting empress waist had tiny lace-covered buttons the length of the back; the bouffant skirt was encircled by a wide band of the same lace and fell to a short court train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of iridescents and tiny seed pearls; her necklace and ear-rings were the bridegroom's gift.

Attendants were her cousins, Janet Tomasano of Egg Harbor, N. J., as maid of honor; Nancy Tomasano, Egg Harbor, and Maureen O'Connor of Hellsentown, Pa., as bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was Kathleen Slater, sister of the bride, who wore white polka dotted nylon over taffeta, with a head band of white flowers, and carried a colonial bouquet of white, mint green and lavender carnations.

The maid of honor was gown in lavender embroidered nylon, with bouffant skirt, short sleeves, and matching taffeta cummerbund, and carried a colonial bouquet of white and lavender carnations. Bridesmaids wore like gowns in mint green and carried white and mint green carnations. Each had a short veil attached to a small crown matching the shade of her gown.

Completing the bridal party, John Straneva of Ludlow was best man, ushers were Joseph Straneva and John Michael Slater. Sheffield; Michael Kulka, Kane; Robert Misulch, Ludlow. Altar boys were Louis G. Slater, Jr., Patrick Cronmiller, and Jack O'Donnell.

The bride's mother wore mint green pure silk and Mrs. Straneva, a black and white silk print, each with white accessories and corsage of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. John O'Donnell presided at the organ and accompanied Teresa Slater's vocal solos. "On, This Day, O Beautiful Mother", "Ave Maria", "Pans Angelicus", "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy", and "Mother, At Thy Feet Is Kneeling". During the last song, the bride presented a bouquet at the foot of the Blessed Virgin's statue.

A reception for approximately 250 followed from one to five at Ludlow Legion Hall. A four-tiered cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, and encircled with smilax and greens, was served by Patsy Weidner, Pittsburgh; the punch bowl was attended by Sally O'Leary, also of Pittsburgh.

Aunts of the bride, Helen Slater of Roystone and Mrs. Lawrence O'Connor, Hellsentown, presided at the buffet table, which was centered with an arrangement of white, green and lavender carnations, stock and chrysanthemums, with crystal candlesticks holding white tapers. Kathleen Misulch, niece of the bridegroom, had charge of the guest book. Orrie Beebe provided organ music.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and southern resort cities, the newlyweds are residing at 107 Foulkrod street, Sheffield until September, when they will move to State College.

Guests at the wedding were from Washington, D. C.; Trenton, Newark and Egg Harbor, N. J.; Cleveland and Akron, O.; Salamanca, Towanda and Jamestown, N. Y.; Pittsburgh, Erie, Bradford, Coudersport, Kane, Lantz Corners, State College, Warren and Brookston.

The bride is a 1955 graduate of St. Vincent's School of Nursing in Erie and at present is employed at Warren General Hospital. Mr. Straneva served in the Korean campaign and will be a junior at Penn State University this fall, majoring in mechanical engineering.

The following have honored the bride with parties: Helen Slater, Mrs. Robert Beckwith, Mrs. James Slater, Teresa Slater, nurses on one west at Warren General, and St. Anthony's Senior Sodality.

I. J. HOFF

Friends and associates of many years' standing note with sadness the passing of I. J. Hoff, one of the oldest and best known residents of the Warren area whose funeral is being held this afternoon.

A kindly man and a scholar of outstanding distinction, Mr. Hoff was known far and wide for the success of the Business College he headed in Warren over a long period of years.

Mr. Hoff took pride in his town, his church and everything that he held dear. By all who knew him and by those with whom he associated in business and pleasure his memory will be held in the highest regard.

PRAISE FOR GAVIN

St. Mary's Daily Press

Congressman Leon H. Gavin of Oil City who represents this district in Congress and a member of the House Armed Services Committee, plugged hard for the military pay raise bill, recently passed by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower.

As a sergeant in World War I, Congressman Gavin has been in close touch with veterans affairs ever since going to Congress and has long fought for more pay for men and women in military service as he has often referred to the millions sent overseas in the form of foreign aid while extra pay for military personnel was shunted aside year after year until this congressional session.

His work has won the editorial approval of the Army, Navy, Air Force Journal as noted in a recent issue.

Reminders of two important dates of interest to area residents were heard at the July meeting of Borough Council last evening when permission was granted the Kiwanis Club for use of War Memorial Field for the annual Hot Stove League Day program August 9th, and to the American Legion for use of the field for the annual Drum Corps Competition August 16th—one week later!

Marlow Looks At TODAY'S NEWS

Editor's Note—James B. Sibbison is substituting for James Marlow.

By JAMES B. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders are alarmed over the rash of "right-to-work" movements that have broken out in a number of states. They profess to fear these more than any pending labor legislation in Congress.

Sponsors of these movements have been gathering signatures on petitions in six states in the hope of putting their proposal on the November ballots. A seventh, Kansas, acted through its Legislature. What they want is to outlaw the union shop.

Wherever such a proposal is approved, a new employee would no longer be obliged to join a union—as he is now in a union shop plant. Eighteen states, mostly Southern, already have such laws. Right-to-work proponents, usually Chambers of Commerce and conservative farm groups, say all they ask is that every worker have the freedom to say whether he wants to belong to a union.

Top union leaders see it otherwise. Given this choice, they say many employees would refuse to join in order to avoid paying dues while still enjoying the pay raises and work conditions negotiated by the union.

A petition campaign to put a right-to-work referendum up to the voters in the fall failed in Montana. Results in Colorado and Idaho await a check of the validity and numbers of signatures obtained.

But union leaders are fairly certain the proposal will be offered voters in Ohio, Washington, Kansas and California.

Of these four, easily the most important politically are California and Ohio. Both have big industry and heavy union representation.

Both will have key races in the fall. Surprisingly, the issue is being treated in exactly opposite fashion by Republican senators running for office in those states.

In California, Sen. William F. Knowland has made right-to-work a principal plank in his efforts to become the next governor. He is frankly for it, in a manner not unlike the aggressive campaign fought successfully by Sen. Robert A. Taft in Ohio in 1950.

On the other hand, John W. Bricker, running for his third term as Ohio's Republican senator, has been trying to soft-pedal the issue. Bricker's views on labor are similar to those of Taft and Knowland. Nevertheless, he and Ohio's GOP governor, C. William O'Neill, are trying to prevent the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and others from further circulation of right-to-work petitions, which can be filed until Aug. 5.

One GOP source says privately the Republicans in Ohio fear that a right-to-work proposal would only rouse unions to get out on the campaign trail on election day—to the disadvantage of GOP candidates.

This strategy would appear to be a reversal of Taft's open fight with labor leaders in 1950. But Bricker told a reporter this is not so. He said right-to-work is a strictly state matter that should not be permitted to confuse issues in a year for statewide candidates.

Both sides in the fight believe, for different reasons, that a number of union members will vote for right-to-work. Proponents say many workers want it because of dislike for "union bosses." Union leaders fear some members will favor it under the misapprehension that "right to work," in a period of unemployment, guarantees them a job.

Little Acorns

Here and There

Printed in Warren Ledger eighty years ago this week, is the following letter from "Aunt Pheba" in Youngsville about a July 4 incident in that town: "Editor Ledger—I never attempted to write for the press, nor would I at this time but for the fact that a very unusual occurrence in our place calls for a public notice. I will give the facts, as near as I can. In the first place, flaring handbills were got out in some way, no one seems to know how, that there would be a grand celebration of the 4th of July. The day came, and was ushered in by the firing of cannon and all the other noises incident to such an occasion; and about 10 o'clock the people began to arrive and enquire for the fourth, but no one could tell—no one knew. Then it rained. Then it was said it would be at 2 o'clock, so everybody waited till past 3, when two ragamuffins were to be seen going through the streets crying at the top of their voices, 'Fourth of July on Siggins Island!' So, about 4 o'clock, quite a crowd had assembled on and about the platform of the Youngsville Silver Coronet Band, but no band there. Finally, when the patience of the people had become exhausted, N. P. Belknap stepped to the front and called the meeting to order, whereupon W. H. Short was made President and E. H. Day Secretary. Then W. F. Siggins, reader of the Declaration, was called to the stand; then Bro. Hull, to make the opening prayer; then J. B. White, the orator of the day, who said he thought the whole thing had been postponed; and last, but not least, Dr. Riley was called; then a choir of young ladies to sing the 'Star Spangled Banner.' Bro. Short said he wanted all to join in the chorus, but for some cause, best known to themselves, but few sang it. Then Bro. Short went for them, and told them that anyone who would not sing the chorus ought to be made to do so, and said that in England everybody was compelled to sing 'God Save the Queen.' I suppose that is the way he would like to have it here. Then commenced the speeches, and such an array I never saw. Why, it reminded me of Barnum's 'happy family,' all manner of politics, and I might say religion, represented, there was the Greenbacker, White; the Radical, Short; the Democrat, Siggins; and the Commoner, Babcock—each and all foreshadowing his peculiar political opinion without giving the detail; and, strange to say, no particular exceptions were taken to any of the remarks except Bro. Short's. Mr. White said the cause of all our trouble and hard times was misrule at Washington. Bro. Riley said it was not the officers at Washington, but the people at home; he saw it commenced at Leon, N. Y., four years ago. Men would not vote until the man came who paid the most money. Now who will say Youngsville is not a band of brothers? The meeting adjourned in good order. Next came the fantastics, which afforded great fun for the little folks; then all the races, and everything, I believe, finally, as advertised on the large handbills, was all carried out, and the speakers nearly all said they felt that it was good to be there. The fantastics escorted the band from the depot, on their arrival from Warren, to the stand, when they danced to their heart's content. "Aunt Pheba."

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

See Hoffa's Transport Union As Bid for Respectability

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Notorious James Riddle ("Jimmy") Hoffa of the Teamsters Union has formally opened a campaign here to gain acceptance as a respectable and responsible labor union "statesman."

This came out of his announcement here on July 3 of a new "Conference on Transportation Unity." Joining him in the statement were Joseph Curran of the National Maritime Union, AFL-CIO, and Capt. William V. Bradley of the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn., expelled from the AFL for racketeer domination in 1953.

Hoffa's assistants were quick to call this "the biggest thing that has happened in the American Labor movement since John L. Lewis walked out of the AFL to form CIO."

Skeptics were equally quick to minimize the sweeping nature of this statement. They also take with large doses of salt any assertions that Jimmy Hoffa is anything more or different from what the Senate's McClellan committee labor racketeering investigation made him out.

THEY EXPRESS DOUBT, and will have to be shown, before they will believe that Hoffa has turned over any new leaves. But the stable of Hoffa press agents is now playing the harp that, "Jimmy Hoffa is going to become the biggest labor leader in the country." And that will be something to watch.

"The International Teamster," monthly house organ of the big union which was expelled from the AFL-CIO last year on charges of corruption, devotes its current issue to refuting all the critical pieces that national magazines have been printing about Hoffa.

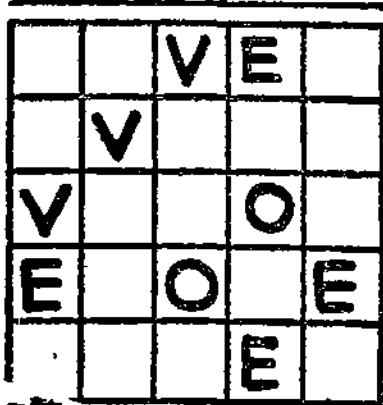

The wash job consists of showing that Hoffa has not been convicted in any of the court tests filed against him by the U.S. government. According to "The Teamster," the latest acquittal "cleans the slate."

REGARDLESS OF ALL this window-dressing, the new "Conference on Transportation Unity" which Hoffa has now unveiled is considered important in labor union politics. The plan in brief is to invite three representatives from each of some 50 international unions in the transportation industry to a larger conference at the end of August. A formal organization will be perfected then.

Hoffa, Curran and Bradley insist they have no intention of forming a new labor federation to compete with AFL-CIO. Curran is now a vice president of that organization and a member of its ethical practices committee.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
 AP Business News Analyst
 NEW YORK (AP) — Watchers for the turn in the recession tide sometimes look for signs on far-off beaches. And today they are trying to evaluate one such ripple—the chance that American manufacturers may be changing their minds about new plant and equipment spending. The wavellet, for what it's worth, is reported from Puerto Rico.

The reported about-face in recent weeks is restoring optimism to the island's Economic Development Administration which had reason to be pretty blue in the first three months of this year. During January, February and March only three U.S. manufacturers decided to start operations in Puerto Rico. Operation Bootstrap — encouraging American companies to set up branch plants and thus help pull the Caribbean land out of its economic slough—seemed to have sunk on the shoals of the mainland's recession. Company after company told Puerto Rican representatives that they weren't interested in expanding at this time.

But in April, May and June 54 companies signed up. This lifted the total for the fiscal year to 91. The agency says the contracts involve jobs for 4,715 persons, a yearly payroll of $7,403,100 and capital investment of $9,103,926.

All this is too small in comparison with total U.S. plant expansion spending to be a determining factor in the length of the recession.

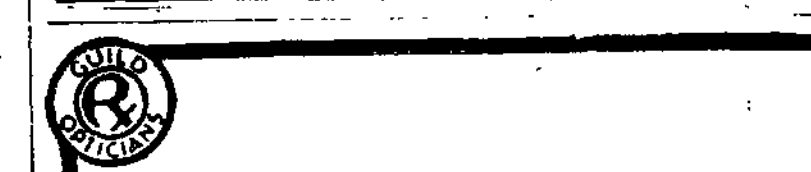

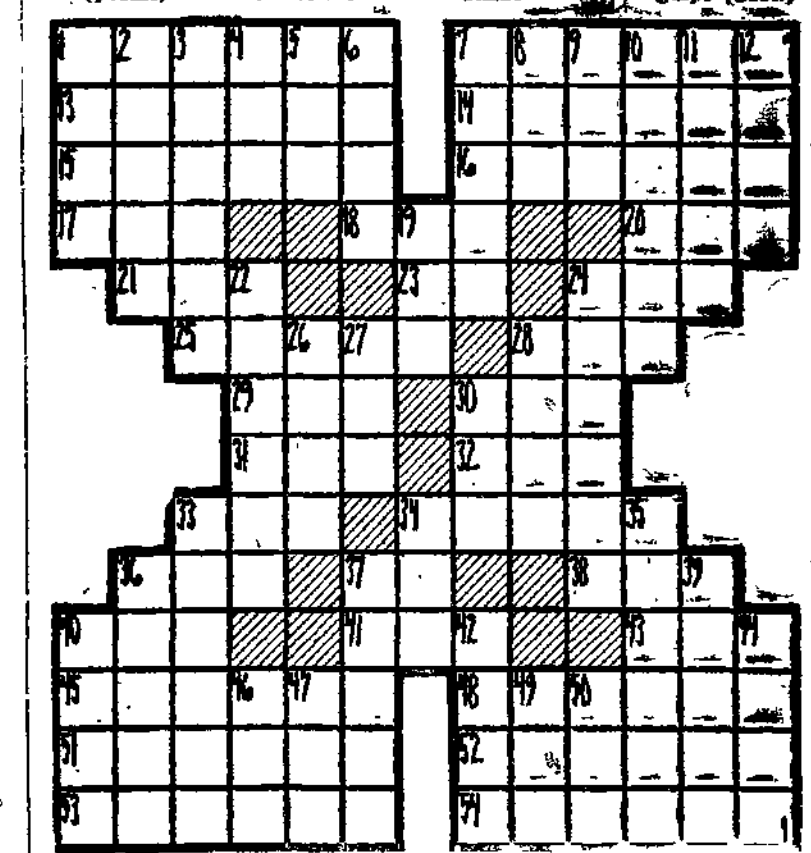

And it runs counter to all the statistics on industrial construction here, which in the first six months of 1958 ran 24 per cent behind a year ago. Also each pool of future intentions on expansion spending has been increasingly on the pessimistic or cautious side, so that little real help to the economy from that quarter has been expected until some months from now.

But one of the things economists have been looking for is any evidence of a change in business thinking — away from retrenchment and coasting and towards resumption of expansion and modernization of plants. Whether Puerto Rico's experience of the last few weeks signifies this, it's too early to say.

The Rev. George F. O'Pray officiated at 10:00 a. m. in the presence of 125 guests. Dean Redick, organist, provided the wedding music.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar; Mrs. David Nelson was matron of honor; bridesmaids were Dorothy Crick and Nancy Sandquist; flower girl was Pamela Holmberg. Others in the bridal party were Carl E. Martin, best man for his brother; ushers Keith Stam and David R. Nelson, ring bearer, William Gross.

Carrying an arrangement of white roses centered with a gardenia corsage, the bride was gownned in white tulle lace over satin, the bouffant skirt ballerina length and scalloped at the hemline. A pearl and sequin crown held her veil of silk illusion and her pearl necklace and earrings were the bridegroom's gift.

Mrs. Nelson wore white nylon organdy with touches of blue embroidery, bridesmaids were in white organdy over party lilac, all carrying colonial bouquets of pink roses, carnation's and daisies. Little Miss Holmberg wore pink crystalettes and carried a basket of rosebuds and daisies.

Both mothers wore blue lace over taffeta, with white accessories and pink rosebud corsage.

Summer flowers from the garden of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Smith, decorated the YWCA parlors for the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gates were master and mistress of ceremonies; aides were Glenna Graves and Carol Martin.

Following a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands region, the newlyweds are at home at 314 West Fourth street, Jamestown. The bride was graduated in June from Jamestown High and is employed at Nelson's Bakery. Mr. Martin attended Warren High and is a Martin-Rockwell employee.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mrs. Russell Smith, Mrs. David Nelson and Nancy Sandquist.

THRILL FOR YOUNGSTERS—While Mr. and Mrs. Carl Durkin and children, of Pittsfield, were spending two very pleasant days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis, 228 Churchill avenue, Ottawa, they were privileged to tour the capital city and young Darce, Darcy and Darwin posed with a Royal Mounted Police officer on the steps of the Parliament building. Other points of interest in the city included the museum, airport and experimental farms. Their two-week vacation also included stops at Crystal Beach, Santa's Village and Algonquin Provincial Park, where they enjoyed a week of boating and swimming.

Kathleen Misulich, niece of the bridegroom, had charge of the guest book. Orrie Beebe provided organ music.

More Than Hundred Attend Annual Ruth M. Smith Home Founders' Day

SHEFFIELD—Reports of the annual Founders' Day at the Ruth M. Smith Home indicate 108 persons were in attendance to represent the following units of Erie Conference WSCS:

Kane, New Bethlehem, Clarion, Sandy Lake, Fairview, Tidoulet, Corry, Union City, Barnes, Warren, and Sheffield, Pa.; Westfield, Cherry Creek, South Dayton, and Conewango Valley, N. Y.

After a picnic lunch entertainment was provided by Tom Rea, magician from Oil City, to the delight of all the children and adults. Many were visiting the Home for the first time and all were impressed by its attractive appearance.

The Ruth M. Smith Children's Home was a gift of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith in memory of their daughter, Ruth M. Smith, in 1922. The Home is owned and operated by the Erie Conference WSCS of the Methodist Church, and these Founders' Day activities are an annual event.

The "family" at the Home includes 19 children and the superintendent, Mrs. George Coulter, who has held that post for the past four years. Many improvements have been made recently, including rubber tiling on the second floor.

Gifts have been received from many individuals and women's societies. Last year, a $1,000 gift was received from the late Miss Doris Gamble, formerly of Warren; just recently, a $500 donation was received from a Kane estate.

An abundance of supplies and money came from the annual Booth Festival which is sponsored by the Jamestown Methodist Youth Fellowship each fall. These generous gifts from friends of the Home have helped greatly and are very much appreciated.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

DIFFICULT HAND TO BID PROPERLY

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"How should we have bid this hand?" writes an Ardmore, Okla., reader. "I made six hearts all right, but all that is necessary for a spade grand slam is for me to trump one of dummy's little diamonds in my own hand. Who went wrong?"

The answer is that the hand is really a difficult one to bid properly, and North and South should not be too disturbed about their failure to reach seven spades.

South must be given at least 90 per cent of whatever blame there is, since holding A Q J 9 of spades he never got around to raising his partner.

His opening one heart bid was correct and he might well have jumped right to six spades over his partner's response of one spade. Still, there is nothing wrong with his three club bid or North's jump to four hearts.

At this point South had another opportunity to bid six spades in which case North might have passed or gone to seven spades. We will never know because South bid six hearts.

I know why South went wrong. Somehow or other, South must have suspected that his partner's one spade bid had not been entirely honest. What South overlooked was that if North had been fooling he would not have to stay in spades and South certainly had no objections to a grand slam contract.

AROUND THE WORLD

ATOMIC AGE—Wearing protective garb, technicians operate a fluorination-kiln used for the fabrication of intermediate uranium products at West Germany's first so-called "Atomic Village" in a forest near Hanau. Uranium imported from Canada is made into fuel for the atomic reactor in Karlsruhe.

SKY WINDMILL—The top photo shows the demonstration of the new Faurey Aviation Company's vertical take-off airplane as it rises vertically with the aid of the helicopter blades. Note that the propellers in the front have begun to spin, ready to take over for standard horizontal flight. Bottom photo shows the machine grounded for a close-up.

WHERE IT CAME IN—The Pilgrim replica ship Mayflower II is shown as it returned to its home port in Plymouth, Mass., more than a year after its historic crossing of the Atlantic Ocean from England. Some 5,000 persons lined the shore to welcome the vessel, which has been touring American seaports ever since it arrived in this country.

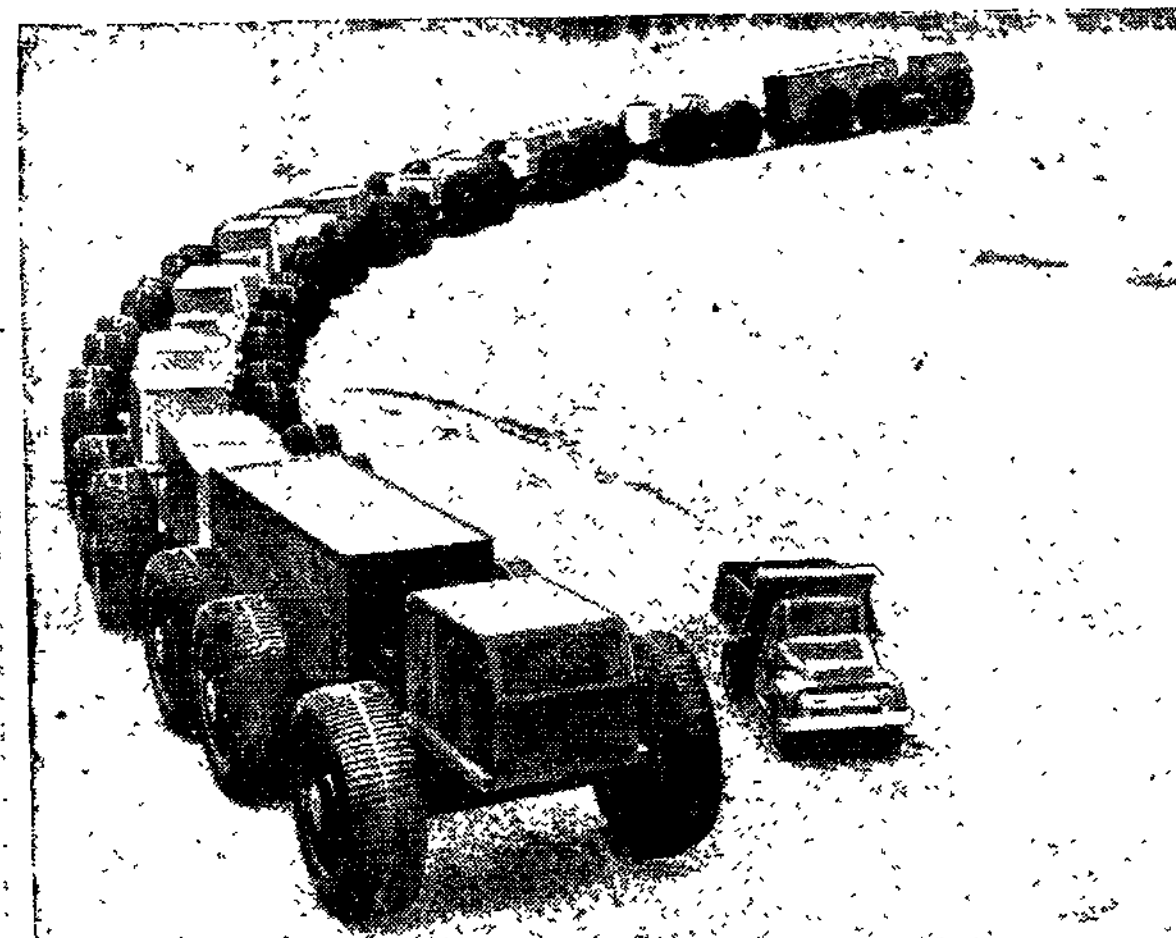

TRIPLE TROUBLE—Security officer John Heywood had a double armful of yowling youngsters at the Battersea Festival Gardens in London. The bawling babes in arms were entered in a baby show there, and Heywood, who has four of his own at home, pretty well knew how to pacify these.

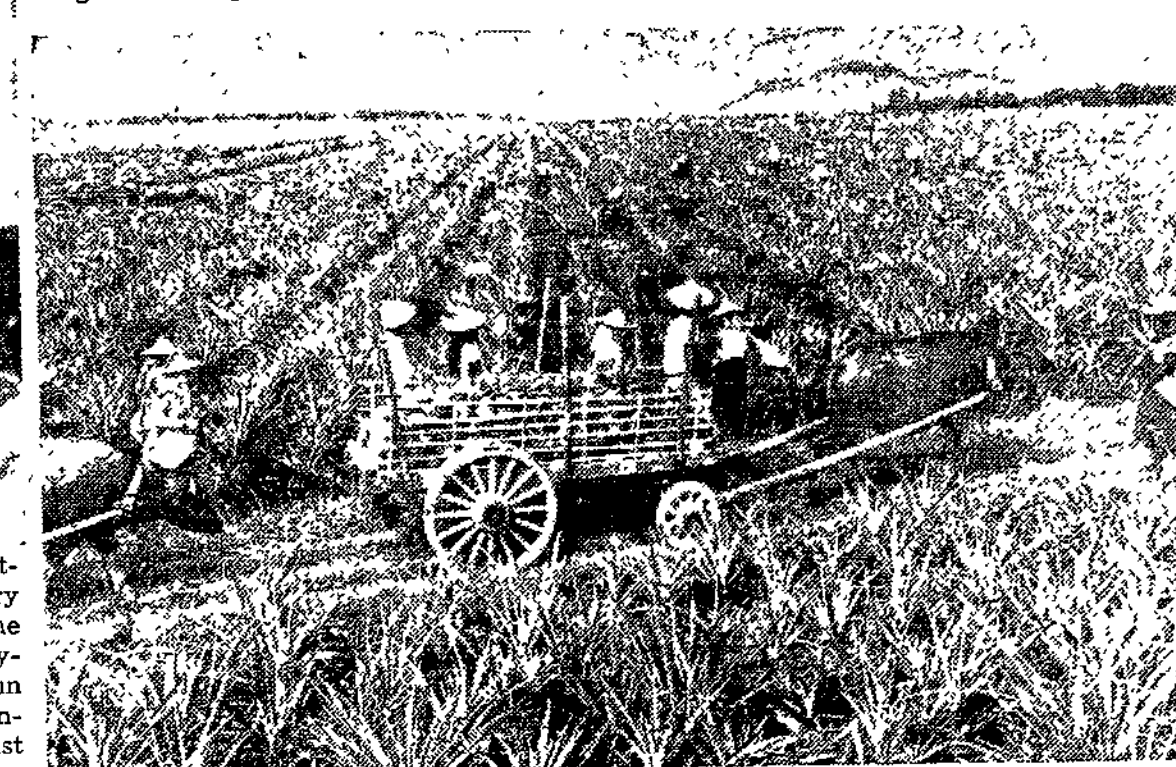

PEACOCK STYLE—Obviously tickled pink by her feathered headdress, Mrs. Peter Black is set for a day at the races in Ascot, England. Resembling a peacock's spread tail, the hat is made of sea-blue osprey feathers, and they're very striking.

MOTH BELLES—Making a summer discovery, Sheryl Moore, left, 8, and her sister Marilyn, 6, gingerly study a Prometheus moth at Newport, N. H. They seem to be wondering if their pretty pet can really be the pesky thing that bites holes in people's clothes, and causes a lot of other troubles. If they release it, they may find out.

ATOMIC WAGON TRAIN—An electrically-powered scale model shows the features of a proposed rubber-tired train which would travel over rough terrain, powered by a nuclear or a conventional engine. Its size illustrated by the dump truck model beside it in Longview, Tex., the gigantic but nimble train could conceivably be operating within a year, according to its designers at R. R. LeTourneau, Inc.

IT'S A BOOM—Workers fan out across the fields as the pineapple crop is harvested near Pingtung, Formosa. A hundred thousand people on more than 15,000 privately-owned farms have turned the island into the fourth largest pineapple producer in the world.

BIRD IN HAND—A baby owl named Sally just doesn't give a hoot for trees any more. It's perfectly happy to rest in the palm of Barbara Roberts, 18, who has cared for it since it fell from its nest in Austin, Tex.

PLAIN AND FANCY—In the quaint traditional clothing of her people, an Amish mother contrasts strangely with the modern world of merchandising. A member of the Pennsylvania Dutch "plain people," she's shopping in a department store in Lancaster, Pa.

THE SAFE SIDE—A British officer, who's out to try and enjoy himself when he takes a swim, is shown carrying his revolver with him in Kyrenia, Cyprus. The danger of a possible terrorist attack is the reason for the precaution in this part of the world where, otherwise, life is pretty much as usual.

WHAT IN THE WORLD?—Women who can't decide what hat to wear may go for these umbrellas, which have eight berets attached. The unusual display was arranged in London by designer Edward Mann to show off his new "big" hats. With these berets in tow when it rains, gals would have more than they could handle, and in good weather or bad.

FIESTA TIME—Dressed in native costumes, Spanish-speaking Catholics marched in a procession to open the sixth annual local public observance of the feast of St. John the Baptist, patron saint of Puerto Rico. In addition to the pageant held on New York's Randall's Island, the fiesta included dancing, games and a Puerto Rican barbecue.

An Apology to Warren Fans From Erie Boxing Promoter

Dear Larry:

I read the Sportorial in Monday's Warren Times-Mirror—"This Is Boxing?"

I want to explain just how Tom Gerarde's match with Eddie Goodwin was made.

The sportorial was 100% correct. The bout cannot be called a boxing match as it was a horrible mismatch.

The only person that can be blamed for this is myself. It is my job to make the matches and as matchmaker it is my duty to try and make the bouts as close as possible.

I owe an apology, Larry, to the people of Warren, to those who paid to see the fight and to the J. C.'s.

I take great pride in my ability as a matchmaker, in this you know, Larry. I would never have condoned such a match if I knew Goodwin was such a poor fighter.

You asked in your sportorial what I had in mind. I did not have in mind an easy win for Tom in his home town. For this would do no one any good. I have seen too many cities, including my home town of Erie, ruined by unscrupulous promoters who used big names against very ordinary fighters. This helped kill boxing in many cities. The fight "did Tom no good, it did boxing in Warren no good and it certainly did not do me any good.

I have no intentions of hurting boxing with such methods. I have been trying to build the game in this vicinity and it is fights like what was witnessed July 4 that do the game no good.

I have long been a fighter for clean boxing. I have always fought the bad element in the game. Boxing is too dear to me for me to ever deliberately try to hurt it.

In Tom Gerarde, Warren has one of the best looking prospects in the amateurs but he is still young and has much to learn. In the same manner that I do not want to give Tom any setups nor do I want to put him in over his head. At this time he needs to meet fighters of his own experience.

I was approached at the gym by a fighter named Babovich. He claimed he was recently discharged from the navy and he had been champion on his boat.

He had heard of Gerarde and wanted to fight him. He told me he had six fights. He looked tough but this means little. I asked him to come down to the gym and let me see him work out and if he looked all right I would put him in with Gerarde.

The next thing I heard from him was a couple of days later when he said he could not fight. He claimed he had gone to Fort Erie for a fight and he had received a bad cut in a fight with Lester Goodwin. He claimed Goodwin was a rugged fighter who weighed 210.

I then called a few amateur trainers in Buffalo asking them if they knew about a heavy-weight named Goodwin. No one had heard of him. Finally I called a trainer that I had worked with no one previous fight and he told me he had Goodwin. I told him about Gerarde and how many fights he had. He told me that this fighter would be all right for him as he had about six or seven fights. Going from that I called some other handlers in Buffalo asking them about Goodwin and no one knew anything about him. I then called back the manager and he kept assuring me that Goodwin would be on the par in ability with Tom Gerarde.

You saw the result. This is an example of how these things happen.

There you have the story Larry. I can only say as I have said before I am very sorry. Warren is an excellent fight town and I hope to continue to match fights in your city. What you saw is not an example of the kind of matches that I strive for. I am trying to build boxing; not kill it.

Yours in sport,

DON ELBAUM

(Editor's note: Before Goodwin was finally picked to fight Gerarde, several others were contacted. Namely Joe Schoof, New Castle, couldn't box because he had another engagement; Cawthorn Miree, Cleveland and Bill Hollis, Cleveland, both too experienced for young Gerarde; Jimmy Hartzell and Will Brown of Youngstown, Hartzell had previous commitments for the fourth, Brown was out of shape, could only go 1½ rounds; and finally, an Indian fighter from Buffalo, of whom it was later found out by Elbaum, had no ability whatsoever.)

Sportorials

Things aren't quiet on the home front in Erie boxing circles, now.

According to Gene Cuneo, Sports Editor of Times-News, young Frank Vicary, who manages boxers for Father Thomas Giddes, and Mike Brady, manager of Police Athletic League fighters, are feuding. Vicary says his boys can take Mike's and is willing for Perry Keyer or his son Connie to fight Brady's kingpin—Johnny Bizzaro.

Brady refused to be drawn into the argument, but Matchmaker Don Elbaum says he'll make one of the matches if the boys are within four pounds of each other in weight.

Vicary also says his Chet Moffat, Jim Berdis, Al Connor or Willie McCov can defeat the PAL's Vinnie DiNicola or Tom Gerarde, Warren's son of the fistc sport who is now training in Erie under Brady.

"In fact," adds Tiger Frank, "I'm winning to take on Elbaum or Brady."

While hitting around home with boxing, it is interesting to note that in his weekly column in the Times-News, Elbaum columned a story of the supposedly-fixed fight between Nino Valdes and Harold Carter, ending with, "Here is another case of a supposedly fixed fight that proved to be false. The July Fourth card at Warren went over with a bang; some 1600 fight fans came out to see the J. C.'s first annual boxing card. Half of the fans came by the front door, the other half came over the wall, under the gate, through the holes and every which way. Anyway, the show was a success for the J. C.'s and everyone was happy."

"Ninety-nine per cent of the fans were there to see Tom 'Rocky' Gerarde in action. They saw him but they did not see much of his opponent, Eddie Goodwin, who was 210 pounds of pure fat. Eddie showed nothing and Tom had nothing more than a punching bag to confront. It took two rounds for Gerarde to catch up with the running Buffalo boxer."

Don Elbaum, Erie, is matching the card. Calvin O'Rourke, veteran Golden Glove batter from Wilcox, will headline the Erie Golden Gloves, 1950, '51 and '52. O'Rourke fights heavy-weight and has won 16 of his 18 fights.

Erie's classy Johnny Bizzaro with 25 out of 29 record will be facing a formidable 135 pounder.

Vinnie DiNicola, Erie middle-weight KO artist, will be shooting for his fourth one-round KO, in the last five fights. Vinnie, son of Carl DiNicola, old time Erie lightweight, is one of the most exciting battlers to come out of Erie since the days of Johnny Carey.

Owner of a 15 and 5 record Vinnie has won 11 by KO. Of his 11 knockouts he has scored 10 in the first round.

Hector Zilcosky of Johnsonburg will face Frank Myers of Erie in a light-heavyweight bout. Frank, a rugged, well-built 19 year older, was set to box in Warren on the Fourth card but his opponent failed to show up.

A more complete card will be printed later.

CONGRATULATORY NOTE TO LUMINOUS PUGLIST

Former well known fighter and more recently trainer of Rocky Gerarde, Joseph D. Fazio, Jr., is celebrating his birthday anniversary quietly today with his wife and two children.

Joe has had a very colorful past and the future holds forth sparkling things for the local puglist as he is constantly striving for better boxing in Warren. To help commemorate the occasion, Fazio will begin training Gerarde at the local "Y" this evening for his bout at Wilcox July 22. This will be the first home-town training Joe and his "son" have done since May. Many happy returns of the day, Joe, and many more birthdays.

Continuing its style of something new for racing fans, Erie Stadium Speedway Association announced today motorcycle racing at the 26th and State streets bowl Friday night. If the fans like them, the two-wheelers may be ran regular. Two 25-lap features and other regulars are also on the agenda.

According to Jamestown Sun organization of a Jamestown entry in Western New York Semi-pro Football Conference for the coming fall is well underway, it was disclosed Sunday night by a spokesman for the Jamestown eleven.

Eighteen members of Jamestown Boys' Club Alumni Assn. have come forward as sponsors for the players. Proceeds from Jamestown's participation will be used for advancement of Boys' Club projects.

Chautauqua Association

Chautauqua Baseball Association buzzed with action the past weekend as Kinzua got back into its winning pattern, thumping Busti 12-4, and Harmony crawled out of the cellar Sunday banging out victories over Sugar Grove in both ends of a long-winded double-header, 10-8 and 18-9.

Onville, only club to derail Kinzua, was idle Sunday.

Kinzua's triumph was its third of the campaign over Busti and closes out the two team's season series. Al Host and Virgil Flick combined for a six-hitter, defending champs poking out 17 assorted hits.

Mired in the basement for two solid months, Harmony swapped spots with the Grovers despite their six-run explosion in the nine inning game. Kinzua . . . 040 123 02x—12 17

National League Scramble Has All Managers Hopeful

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers still talk about winning the National League pennant in the wild race that had only a 6½ game span from top to bottom today.

Nobody will admit he can't win it. Optimism bubbles from the mouth of every manager in the league. It seems all eight expect the second half of the season to be better than the first. A Cincinnati spy insists Warren Giles, the league president, is drawing up plans for an eight game playoff.

Perhaps Danny Muttough of Pittsburgh said it best: "There isn't a hat pin long enough for me to risk picking a winner."

Walter Alston, Los Angeles manager, called in General Manager E. J. Buzzo to issue a joint statement when The Associated Press asked for the Dodger views.

"In a race as close as this," they said, "there is no time for panic even when you are in eighth place. We have had more than our usual share of injuries. . . . We also have had several men in unusual slumps. We have every reason to believe we will have a brighter second half of the season and we have confidence we can still finish on top."

Other comments:

Bill Rigney of second-place San Francisco. "We have Willie Mays and our rookies have been doing a great job. If they continue to carry the load, we could go all the way."

Fred Haney of the front-running Milwaukee Braves. "Sure I think we'll win. Whoever wins it has to beat us and I don't think there's another club that can do that."

General Manager Bing Devine

of St. Louis: "Every club has a chance and we're certainly in it."

General Manager Roy Hamer of the Phillies: "We will go as far as our pitching will take us. We certainly can win it all."

Birdie Tebbets of Cincinnati. "I think the pitching staff is good enough to get us to 500. Whatever we get over 500 will be contributed by the hitters."

Bob Schilling of the surprising Chicago Cubs. "We'll do better the second half."

Nino's Winners In Abbreviated Contest 9 to 8

Nino's Restaurant came from behind again last evening to down Struthers Wells in another thrilling ball game at State Hospital in Warren City Softball League competition. Down 7-4 going into the bottom of the fifth, rains came and a shower of base hits by the never-say-die Nino's combo won the contest 9-8.

Snuffer Stephens put the wood to a Viglo curve ball and lined a smash over Wyman's head in deep left field. Henry then placed a wicked smash between left and center for a double. Two singles later by Tannier and Munch, the scrappers cut the lead to one run.

Struthers fought back and stretched their lead to two on a Wolfe double and a Colosimo single. Power that all Nino followers were waiting excitedly for came to life.

Berdine smashed his third big hit. Ristau waited for a walk, Schmadier got a timely single. Babe Stephens struck again with a big hit, after Henry singled Stephens to third, then manager Tannier brought home Stephens with a long sacrifice fly to end scoring for Nino's and the spirit of Struthers Wells.

Next League action is tomorrow night when Soda Mineral and Youngville Nat'l battle it out at Youngville. Betts Machine will face Nino's on West Side diamond.

Griffith Booked As Witness in the Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators who like to watch baseball games get a chance today to question the best available source about keeping a big league club in the capital.

The source is Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators baseball team.

He was first on the program as the antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) resumed hearings on the legal rights of pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

The subcommittee also planned to hear from spokesmen for the Justice Department and the Federal Trade and Communications Commissions.

Just before the All-Star game last week Griffith let it be known the Senators' directors wanted to sound out American League club owners about the advisability of staying in Washington. The Senators have been low in gate receipts, as well as the standings, in recent years.

But after consulting officials of other clubs at a pre-All-Star meeting in Baltimore, Griffith said the Senators would stay put.

Cards' Tryout Camp This Week At Jamestown

St. Louis Cardinal scouts George Kissell and Barney Smith will conduct Red Bird tryout sessions at Municipal Stadium in Jamestown Friday and Saturday.

George and Barney have had extensive experience in tryout camp work, and they'll be looking for the players with natural skill and a real desire to play baseball and win. They certainly have the know-how to spot a young player's "potential."

Tryouts, which are open to all players between 17 and 23, will start each morning at 10 a. m. Cardinals will supply balls, bats and catching equipment with each boy furnishing his own glove, shoes and uniform if he has one.

Any player signed to a contract with one of the Cardinals-operated clubs will be reimbursed for his expenses incident to attending camp.

To participate in tryouts an American Legion player must have a letter of approval from either his Legion coach or Post commander.

Newcomers Again In Spotlight at Stateline Races

For the fifth consecutive week it was newcomers' night to the winner's circle at Stateline Speedway in Busti as the regular Saturday night late model show produced not one, but two new feature race winners and a new point-leader.

Jim Fiebelkorn of Randolph captured first place laurels in a 25 lapper left over from the previous week's rain-out program, his first such victory in two seasons of competition at Stateline. Regular feature found Mike Egan of Dunkirk in the lead at the checkered flag. After the smoke and dust had cleared away, Jimtown John Seely made the biggest news of all—he found himself on top of the Stateline point list, having bested Wellsville's Dean Layfield, who dropped out of the second feature after a crack-up.

Warren's own pilot, Emory Mahan, took second place laurels in the second-semi while Bud Gardner of Clarondan ran a dead heat with Dean Layfield for third in the third heat.

Bill Petty of Brockway crossed the finish line second in the held-over affair with Kane's Hule Russell taking third, money.

Allegany's Ed Stayer was on Egan's bumper in the regular feature for second spot with Russell once again nabbing third. For Egan, in his first season of late model racing, it was also the initial feature victory, although the Dunkirk pilot has been well up in the point standings all season.

Jamestown drivers Bud Fanale, Paul Wilson and Ken Johnson walked off with first, second and third heats respectively.

First semi-final found Eddie Kisco picking up the winning flag, in his first night on Stateline's oval since his spectacular crash of last Labor Day, which nearly took his life. The Kane leadfoot showed no sign of nervousness as he beat out Sugar Grove's Marv Thorpe for the win.

Second semi went to Squirt Johns, Brockway, who also moved up the point ladder to within 50 marks of the top.

A spectacular N. A. S. C. A. R. Grand National will be presented Wednesday night at Stateline with all the nation's top stock pilots running side by side with the best of IRA's Saturday night regulars.

SUMMARIES:
First feature — Jim Fiebelkorn, Bill Petty, Hyle Russell, Ken Johnson, Squirt Johns, Jim Patrick

First heat — Bud Fanale, Ed Stayer, Dean Schimp, Johnny Walker

Second heat — Paul Wilson, Bob Schnars, Johnny McGinley, Ed Young

Third heat — Ken Johnson, John Seely, Dean Layfield and Bud Gardner, dead heat

Second semi — Johns, Emory Mahan, Wilson, Fiebelkorn

Consolation — Jim Hakes, Carl Tyler, Patrick, Mike Egan

Cubs Sitting in 3rd Place Two and Half Games Away

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

You couldn't hear the snickers for the laughs when Manager Bob Scheffing allowed as how his Chicago Cubs could be shooting for National League pennant.

But who was it who chilled the Philadelphia Phillies? The Cubs. And who's that sittin' in third place, just 2½ games shy of first? The Cubs.

The Cubs have moved up from fifth with a sweep of the last three in a four-game set with the Phils, who had won 11 of their previous 14.

Monday they scored an 11-10 decision over the Phils in 11 innings. That pushed Chicago free of a third-place tie with St. Louis while Milwaukee was regaining first place from San Francisco by drubbing the Giants 12-3.

Last-place Los Angeles hammered Cincinnati 8-5.

Herb Score Says He's Ready for Turn on Mound

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herb Score, the injury-plagued Cleveland southpaw who rode a blazing fastball to fame, pins his latest comeback hopes tonight on an assortment of breaking pitches.

Encouraged by his relief work against New York last week, Score pronounced himself ready to resume a starting role.

Sidelined from May 7, 1957, for the remainder of last season when he was hit in the right eye by a line drive, Score strained a tendon in his pitching arm at Washington April 30 and re-injured the arm here June 14.

A 20-game winner in his 1956 sophomore season, Score has worked only 36 innings in the last 14 months.

"I'm going to be throwing mostly curves for awhile at least," Score said. "My arm still hurts when I throw full speed. I can't throw a fast ball 100 per cent. Right now I have about 80 per cent of my speed."

"But the injury is not permanent or serious. As long as I can throw breaking stuff, I figure I'll pitch and try to help the ball club. After all, that's what they're paying me for."

The Cubs beat the Phils the hard way — hammering reliever Dick Farrel in a four-run ninth that tied it 9-9, and then beating Ray Semproch (11 6), the winningest pitcher in the league, on Walt Moryn's two-run double.

Wes Covington was 4-for-4 and drove in three runs, one on his 13th homer, and Johnny Logan ripped a two-run homer as the Braves counted 16 hits-off loser Al Worthington (8-5) and three relievers. Rookie Leon Wagner homered for one of the five hits the Giants managed off Lew Burdette (8-7).

AP Writer Says Revolution Can be Beginning of Worst Crises for the Middle East

Editor's Note—William L. Ryan has just completed a six week trip to the Middle East. He visited Iraq, Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Kuwait.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst

BELGRADE (AP)—Iraq's revolution can be the beginning of the worst of all crises for the Middle East. It carries a real danger to world peace.

The West had more reason to fear such a development in Iraq than in almost any other place in the Middle East. One way or the other, the events in Baghdad are bound to spill out into other sensitive areas.

King Hussein of Jordan is to survive the overthrow of his Iraqi cousin Faisal, he will need massive support from the outside. If he gets that support, the Middle East will become a cockpit for a deep world political crisis.

But if the Iraqi revolution is made to stick, its effect also will be felt far beyond Jordan.

The turmoil is likely to reach Kuwait, with its oil riches, and even Saudi Arabia and the rest of the Saudi Peninsula, where the fever for Arab nationalism, always strong, will get new urgency. What happened in Baghdad appears to have been a coup by desperate men who had been eying an opportunity and who feared that opportunity might slip from their hands.

The opportunity was afforded by the Lebanese rebellion. For extremists in Baghdad it must have been a question of now or never—no matter what Gamal Abdel Nasser's own opinion of their plans might have been.

I was last in Baghdad a little more than a month ago. One could feel the tension being generated by the Lebanese rebellion.

Today's developments foreshadow all sorts of chaos. Because of this, it is difficult to believe that Nasser wanted it to happen in just this way and at just this time. He has grown fearful of Soviet influence in the Middle East, and his talks here in Yugoslavia with President Tito have indicated his desire to remain in the middle between the two world blocs.

The Soviet Union surely will attempt to seize every advantage from the developments to apply pressure against Western interests in the Middle East.

The future of Europe for years to come is bound up with Mideast oil resources. The United States can get by without those resources. Western Europe cannot. Where intervention might have been considered foolhardy in a situation like that which developed in Lebanon, Britain and possibly even France cannot regard lightly any threat to the flow of Middle East oil.

The United States, too, may take a second look at the pros and cons of intervention. Events in Iraq are going to give a big boost to the forces of extreme Arab nationalism throughout the entire area.

Premier Nuri Said, the man whose strength and determination kept the extreme nationalists and the Communists at bay in Iraq, had been desperate to win support from the West to keep the Iraqi-Jordan federation in business. He had been imploring the British to induce the ruling sheik of Kuwait to join him in keeping Jordan from those who wanted to turn her over to the Egyptians and Syrians.

Now the blow apparently has been struck. Inside Kuwait, the pressure on the fabulously wealthy ruling sheiks will be severe. Their position is a dangerous one. The pressure of the Egyptians, Palestinians and Syrians is tremendous. The fever of nationalism has infected many young Kuwaitis, all eager to turn over that incredible little taxpayer's paradise to Nasser.

Even in Saudi Arabia, whose American-extracted oil helps nourish Western Europe, support for Nasser reaches highly placed persons. Crown Prince Faisal, governing the country now for his brother King Saud, is likely to have great difficulty maintaining the position he recently assumed as a neutral between the two Arab blocs.

If the Iraqi revolution, therefore, consolidates itself, the real payoff crisis in the Middle East is at hand.

The Cornplanters Take Another 1st At Strykersville

Still flushed with victory from last Wednesday night at Forestville, N. Y., the Cornplanter Drum and Bugle Corps traveled by bus to Strykersville, N. Y., to compete in the Fireman's Parade that was to climax the Sesquicentennial celebration in the small N. Y. village on Saturday.

The parade consisted of four divisions but was actually larger than the one held here in Warren as far as marching units were concerned. There were 14 Drum corps on hand, plus 8 bands and about 10 Fire Departments in the line of march.

Cornplanters came up against a number of Drum Corps against whom they had never competed before, many from around the Buffalo area and four from Canada. The well known Rainbow Raiders from Niagara Falls, N. Y., were among contenders for top honors, plus the Merritt Guards and Ridgeway Guards, also from Canada; Golden Eagles from Warsaw, N. Y., the Herdares from Attica, N. Y., and many others. Cornplanters were the only Pennsylvanians in the parade.

Judging of the parade was in the capable hands of the N.Y.-Penn Judging Association which is rapidly becoming the type used at all parade contests all over Western Pennsylvania and N. Y.

After the parade was over, a number of Corps and bands played concerts at the firemen's grounds, but the confusion was too great, as all were playing at the same time, so the Cornplanters did not attempt to add to it.

Finally late in the evening, scores had been tabulated and results were broadcast thus: In first place, from Warren, The Cornplanters. Following in second place were the Herdares from Attica, N. Y. and on down through the many prizes that were offered.

This was the longest trip the Cornplanters have taken this year, over 200 miles round trip. Their name has traveled much farther than that however, and is well known hundreds of miles away.

Cornplanters will appear at the Cherry Festival in North East for the evening parade. Saturday they appear at Stockton, N. Y.

Big drum corps competition is scheduled in Warren for Saturday, August 16.

St. Barnabas Is Making Plea for Old Eye Glasses

Episcopalians of the area, along with interested friends, are being asked by Brother Willard Gulpin, of St. Barnabas House at North East, to assist him in collection of old eye glasses and cases.

Brother Willard recently had the opportunity of visiting Haiti and observing the Episcopal Church's ministry in that land. Particularly, he noted the work of the Sisters of St. Margaret in Port au Prince, where great assistance is given to children who are deformed, have poor hearing and had eyes; result of high incidence of disease in that land. By sending natives to the United States for training, the Sisters are able to fit, adapt, and grind glasses for those who need them. Brother Willard is hopeful of collecting 1,500 pairs by September.

He asks that readers "look around and see what happened to that old pair of glasses you haven't used in years. Ask your friends and neighbors, too. Send them directly to him at St. Barnabas' Home, at North East, or leave them in the office of Trinity Memorial church, Warren, and they will be sent on to him.

Frankly, we don't expect you to take our word for it when we say the Swept-Wing 58 Dodge is unlike any car you have ever driven. We don't expect you to believe it rides smoother, corners better and handles easier just because we say so. You want more than claims. You want proof. You want to be shown, to be convinced. That's why we invite you to come in and Take the Wheel... Get the Swept-Wing feel. Take a '58 Dodge out on the road and compare it with any other car you have ever owned or driven. Is it everything we say it is? Does it actually ride smoother? Corner better? Handle easier? We'll leave the answers up to you. You be the judge. Just see and drive and compare the Swept-Wing 58 Dodge. That's all we ask.
